

Hospital blast-wall

Bernie Bruen

1982-06-09

Softly, now, and mind your noise.
Don't disturb the wounded boys — sleeping.
Though they dribble down your neck,
Put the sandbags on the deck — weeping.
Use the shingle from the shore.
Bring a couple hundred more — dripping.
Roundly, with a turn belay!
Detonator's on delay — slipping.
Time is short, so lift and haul;
Got to thicken up this wall — stacking.
"Beat the Clock to Beat the Bomb!"
Such a fitting axiom — cracking!
Strip to trousers, boots and belt.
Push yourself until you melt — sweating.
Heave 'em up; no time to lose,
Only minutes on the fuze setting.
Hacked it! — with a bag to spare,
Finest bulwark anywhere — lasting.
Let the sucker detonate;
No way it can penetrate — blasting.